Media player classic can't subtitles

Media player classic can't load subtitles.

If ever it was the case, it's not the case anymore. I have found a way to load subtitles in Media Player Classic. The first step is to find the subtitles file. You can use the website SubtitleHub or SubtitleHub is a website that provides a database of subtitles for various movies. Once you find the subtitle file, you need to download it. Then, you need to place the subtitle file in the same folder as the video file. The next step is to configure Media Player Classic to load the subtitles. You can do this by going to the 'File' menu, then 'Subtitles', then 'Open Subtitles...'. This will open a dialog box where you can select the subtitle file. Once you select the subtitle file, the subtitles will be loaded and displayed on the video. If you are having trouble loading subtitles, you can try using the 'Subtitles available online' feature in Media Player Classic. This feature allows you to search for subtitles online and download them directly to the video player. However, this feature may not work in all cases. If you are still having trouble loading subtitles, you can try using the 'Subtitles available online' feature in Media Player Classic. This feature allows you to search for subtitles online and download them directly to the video player. However, this feature may not work in all cases.
